Statement on Campaigning

The Church does not engage in any form of active party political campaigning

On occasions, matters are brought to the Church's attention where the Church may express a view or may add its name to a petition that reflects the views of the Church, in order to influence the policy of government or other public bodies, or to ensure that existing laws are observed.

Members of the Church and congregation may also have the opportunity to support a petition that the Church may bring to their notice on the basis that it is of Christian concern.

Any campaigning must support or further the objects of the Church.
